This office action is responsive to the communication filed on 08/30/07.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. A previously amended limitation "in a main path of a modulation circuit" is not supported by the specification as originally filed.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reed et al (5,961,658).

With regards to claim 7, Reed et al discloses a signal processing method utilizing a partial response to record information on a medium and then regenerate the information from the medium (see fig. 2 and disclosure thereof), wherein in a main path of a modulation circuit (see fig.2 element 88 and disclosure thereof; wherein, since there is only one output with one input, the input must go through every element to obtain the desired output signal. Therefore, each path through the elements can be considered as a main path), a signal recorded on the medium is subjected to the convolution of $(1-D)$ where D is a bit delay operator (See fig.6 element 152 disclosure thereof and col.11 lines 59-67); a regeneration signal from the medium is subjected to an equalizing process including the convolution of $(k-s*D).(1+D)^n$ (see the paragraph bridging cols. 6 and 7; wherein k, s and n are considered to be 1).

With regards to claim 8, Reed et al discloses that the information is decoded from the equalized signal (see fig.2 elements 74,88 and 92 and disclosure thereof).

With regards to claims 9-12, the apparatus limitations recited in claims 9-12 and similar to the method limitations recited in claims 7-8. Therefore the rejection applied to method claims 7-8 above in this office action is herein repeated for the same reasons of anticipation.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 are allowed.

Applicant's claimed invention differs from the prior art of the record for the same reasons recited in the office action mailed on August 26, 2005.

Response to Remarks

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 7-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
